

Global Finance Announces its First-Ever Best Depository Receipts Awards

NEW YORK, May 13, 2019 – Global Finance magazine has announced the 2019 Best Depository Receipts Awards. This is the first time the publication has chosen the best banks and programs in this sector.

A full report on the selections will appear in the July/August issue of Global Finance, with global winners chosen in seven categories and three regions.

All selections were made by the editors of Global Finance. They considered market research, input from expert sources and entry information from banks to select winners from the institutions that reliably provide the best services in depository receipts.

"Depository receipts are an important tool for corporate issuers to access the global capital markets and broaden their investor base," said Joseph D. Giarraputo, publisher and editorial director of Global Finance. "As investor interest continues to grow in cross-border trading, we honor those depository receipts banks and programs that provide the best value-added services to issuers, brokers and investors."
